

Carving Panel Horus God Falcon Ancient Egyptian 19th Century, Wood

£2,250

REF: 11392

Height: 52 cm (20.5")

Width: 59 cm (23.2")

Depth: 3 cm (1.2")

Description

Ancient Egyptian Revival: 19th century, carving of Horus in the form of a falcon

- Beautifully carved classical composition in low relief - Depicting Horus, one of the earliest and most important Egyptian gods in the form of a falcon. Showing his right eye as the sun or morning star, representing power and Quintessence; his left eye was the moon or evening star representing healing - Finely carved with a variety of techniques and textures in the different levels of the carved relief. - Decorative and symbolic harmonizing with both period and contemporary interiors - Made at a time of renewed interest ancient Egypt as a result of Napoleon's Egyptian Campaign (1798-1801) and the extensive scientific study of ancient Egyptian remains and culture inspired by this Campaign . In addition to its aesthetic impact on literature, art, and architecture, it also played a role in the discussion about race, gender, and national identity. - Egyptomania is of particular importance to American culture because of the way in which the example of ancient Egypt served to create a sense of independent nationhood during the 19th century. - Unusual wood, currently identifying Measures: Length 59cm Height 52cm Depth 3cm.