

A rare pair of mid-18th century, delftware vases and beaker

Sold

Description

The necks with oak leaves trailing down into the baluster-shaped bodies. The fronts with two larger flowerheads amongst dense leafy trailing stems. The backs with a Decorated in white on a blue glaze. Restoration to the neck of the beaker. Probably Irish or Liverpool, circa 1760. Irish delftware (Castletown) page 33 illustrates the numbers found on Irish pieces which enable us to more positively attribute this garniture as Irish as opposed to Liverpool.

Reference :